

Our Donor Bill of Rights

As a donor to Hope Women's Centers, we assure you that we follow all general standards of accounting. This gives you the following rights as one of our valued financial partners:

- To know how the funds of the organization are being spent
- To know what the programs you support are accomplishing
- To know that we comply with the federal, state, and municipal laws
- To restrict or designate your gifts to a particular project within Hope's mission objectives
- To a timely and courteous response to your inquiries about our finances or programs
- To visit our office and program sites and to talk personally with the staff
- To give cheerfully, without being pressured
- To obtain a copy of our most recent audited financial statements
- To know that a responsible governing board provides oversight to Hope's mission
- To know that all appeals for funds are truthful
- To be receipted and thanked in a timely manner

Hope is supported by businesses and individuals, as well as churches, private foundations, and grants. In addition to these income streams, two special events are held each year to provide for the on-going financial needs. The backbone of our funding is the monthly donor program, which helps provide a steady cash flow. We are a 501(c)(3) non-profit and all gifts are tax-deductible. FED EIN 6509213257
